DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the arrangement with only one passageway provided with a deflector must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. It is unclear from the specification how one deflector plate extending parallel to the direction of flow is to be arranged with only one of the passageways.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Harvey (US 6065643).

Regarding claim 1: Harvey discloses a bottle having two reservoirs (11), a separate passageway from each reservoir, each passageway opening to the atmosphere (when the cap is removed as in figure 5), a deflector plate (39) between the openings, in contact with at least one of the liquid streams, the openings arranged so that the liquid streams are caused to be deflected towards the other stream causing the streams to mix once they have passed the deflector plate.

Regarding claim 2: The passageways are side by side.

Regarding claim 3: A single deflector plate deflects liquid from both passageways.

Regarding claim 5: Each passageway has its own deflector plate as illustrated in examiner generated figure below.

Regarding claim 6: The free end of the deflector plate is tapered in the direction of the flow as shown in figure 3.

Regarding claim 7: The two passageways are substantially parallel as shown by the dotted line in the examiner generated figure below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harvey (US 6065643) in view of Dubach (US 6439433).

Harvey discloses all of the elements of claim 8 except for a nozzle angled in respect to the main axis of the bottle.

Dubach teaches the angling of the nozzle with respect to the container axis.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide the container of Harvey with the angled neck of Dubach for the predictable result of directing the stream of mixed liquid to be directed at a predetermined angle to the bottle's axis.

6. Claims 9, 10, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harvey (US 6065643) in view of Conway (US 6758411).

Harvey discloses all of the elements of claims 9, 10, and 12 except for the viscosities of the liquids to be used and the use of a detergent in the device.

Conway teaches the use of low viscosity fluids in such a bottle, as well as teaching the use of such a bottle for dispensing a two part detergent solution. In column 1 lines 26-28, Conway teaches "an aqueous liquid detergent composition that is prepared and delivered from a dual-compartment container". In column 15 lines 51-54, Conway provides "for example, viscosities of 10-30 centipoise when measured with a Brookfields viscometer...are suitable".

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to try using the container of Harvey with the detergent composition of the viscosity explicitly taught by Conway. It would produce the predictable result of providing a more complete and efficient mixing of the fluids.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 9/9/08 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

With regard to the discussion of the 103 rejections on pages 9 through 13 of 14, the explanation of the 102 rejections above addresses the issues Applicant raises with regard to the 103 rejections.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
